St. Nick flies to Carmel Valley

SANTA CLAUS HAS COME TO TOWN! He arrived at Carmel Valley from the North Pole by plane Saturday morning and here he is seen warming up with a cup of coffee at the C.V. Community Youth Center "Dine-a-mite" lunch counter (at their Christmas tree lot) surrounded by members of the White Oak's

Theatre cast of the "Ogre Collector."

He was met at the airstrip by a goodly crowd of youngsters in spite of the inclement weather and the sun shone brightly upon his arrival. Santa's own private pilot was Don Cummings and the Del Monte Aviation Co. had the honor to transport him in one of its planes.

Ken Van Hagan of the General Store supplied Santa with goodies to distribute. (His not-to-be-opened-until-Christmas pack is still at the North Pole) He'll be back Christmas Eve.

Santa to cavort in Suzie Snow Flake Chorus

SANTA has also been seen tripping the light fantastic with the Suzie Snow Flake Chorus line in preparation for the 19th Annual Carmel Youth Center Capers which may be seen by one and all Dec. 20th and 21st at 7:30 p.m. in Sunset Auditorium. Admission is free because Carmel Youth Center members want to say "Thank you" to the community for its support since 1949.

MPC wives spark volunteer school aid program

"School Volunteer Aids," a group of women who go anywhere they are needed to assist teachers in the Monterey School District, was organized this fall by Mrs. Morgan Stock and a group of Monterey Peninsula College faculty wives.

With permission from the Board of Education, it is well on its way to being an indispensable part of the school system and has branched out to include women who have no affiliation with the college.

"We are housewives and mothers and we don't profess to be anything but assistants," Mrs. Stock emphasizes. "We have in common a desire to help the school system cope with children who need extra help."

Mrs. Stock coordinates the workers, sending out substitutes when needed from her list of volunteers.

Eleven women have been more or less permanently placed, working three or four mornings each week as remedial reading or remedial math assistants or doing library work.

An arts and crafts program has not yet been worked out but Mrs. Stock is taking names of those who wish to help with this subject. She also needs more mothers who can work on the remedial math program, math being one of the main stumbling blocks for many youngsters.

Louisa Stock credits three sources as inspiration for her program. They are "Listening Mothers" (women who listen while slow readers read aloud) of Monte Vista School; her experience in taking children on field trips from the Pioneer House nursery school in Seaside; and the Forrest Sweeney's (he is head of the MPC English Dept.) success in showing travel slides to students. She seeks to employ all three endeavors in the "Aid" program.

Mothers already enthusiastically at work include the following:

Stilwell School: Mrs. Lois Leonard of Pacific Grove, remedial math.

Highland School: Mrs. Frances Sweeney of Carmel, remed-ial math; Philomene Smith of Del Rey Oaks, remedial math, Elise Charleston of Monterey, library; Janet McKalvy, Carmel, library, and Dottie Carmolt, Carmel, library; Beth Adams of Hacienda Carmel, remedial reading and Shirley Dolittle, Monterey, remedial reading.

Manzanita School: Caroline Bublir, Monterey, remedial math and Jean Mehlert, Monterey, remedial math.

Leading athletes honored at annual Carmel Hi banquet

It was Carmel High athletes' night Monday last week when the annual banquet sponsored by the Boosters' Club drew a big crowd of boys and their parents to the Monterey Moose Lodge building.

James Kelsey, president of the Boosters' Club, again handled the master of ceremonies' chores.

Highlights of the evening were the presentations of awards to the top athletes.

The varsity football player trophy went to Tom Millott, co-captain, an offensive guard and defensive line backer. A senior, he was selected an offensive guard on the All-Mission Trail League first team.

Co-captain Randy Siino, another senior, received the James Kelsey Award, given for scholarship, leadership, co-operation as well as athletic ability. An offensive tackle, he also made the All-League first string as a defensive tackle.

Trophy for tops in team spirit and co-operation went to Curt Royer, a senior and an offensive guard and defensive line-backer.

The "Hatchet" award for outstanding defensive play was awarded to Scott Morris, a defensive end and offensive tackle. The award is earned by points accumulated by intercepting passes, causing and recovering fumbles, and by being involved in a tackle which lands the ball carrier on his back. Morris, a junior, will be back as a mainstay of the squad next year.

Morris also received the award for most scholastic improvement during the school quarter of the football season.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Most valuable player award for the JVs went to Rick Hall, a sophomore fullback on offensive and defensive linebacker.

The annual Luis Wolters' award was presented to Bob Thompson, a junior and an offensive and defensive halfback. The award is made for exceptional scholarship, leadership and sportsmanship.

Winning "the most inspirational player" award was Bill Conlan, a junior. Playing quarterback, he broke his leg about half way through the season.

Most valuable player award went to Kim Weston.

Al Hood, a back, received the award for the most inspirational team member.

Ford Pollard, a lineman, was presented the award for the most improved player.

Christmas is about children. Perhaps more correctly, it is about a child. This year we at SVS decided our Christmas message would be a little more special if it were told by the youngsters. So, we asked the younger children of our employees to draw a picture of "What Christmas Means to Me." Here is what they drew. We can only add . . .

Successful year for Trail and Saddle Club

The Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club ended a very active year with its annual turkey-potluck and awards dinner Dec. 6 at the Community Center, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Angell.

About 150 members and guests enjoyed the lovely decorations provided by Mrs. Carl Kunz and her committee and the delicious food provided by Mrs. Arthur Bennett and her committee.

Old fashioned Christmas entertainment was provided with delightful Christmas readings by Mrs. S. N. Trevino and the concert by John Farr and his very talented group from Tularecito School.

Richard Zoellin, outgoing president, was presented with a belt buckle in appreciation of a year of hard work. The judges who so generously donated their time in helping with our Award Series were Vic Silva, Caroline Fisher Tugel, Wiley and Jan Wilson, Ronaye and Ralph Carter and Elaine Riddell.

Margaret Menke, president of the junior group, read a fairy tale honoring in a humorous way the many members of the club who have helped with the numerous activities during the year and the outstanding juniors in horsemanship. Some of the juniors so honored were; Lynda and David Raynes, Ted Sherman, Kris and Wendy Swanson, Dany Kunz, Kathleen and Margaret Menke, Marcia, LeeAnn and Petie Dahle, Diane Klech, Mary Ann Morris, Vicky and Sally Bennett, Freddie and Marion Nason, Julie and Sylvia Zoellin, Tracy Rushmer, Monica Ballyntyne, Sue Schetter, Carole Crockett and Kevin Strathmeyer.

The club is particularly proud of its junior group who earned the money, made their outfits and came out with a blue ribbon on the first day of the Salinas Rodeo parade.

Ruth Angell, Program Chairman, was honored with a surprise birthday cake; Don and Lura Mae Sherman were thanked for their remodeling of the rest rooms and spectator's bench built the length of the arena, and Evelyn and Richard Zoellin were thanked for the long hours involved in running the Award Series.

The Porter Perpetual Trophy, (awarded to the junior attending the most outside shows and winning the most honors) went to Sylvia Zoellin.

The Warmington Trophy (to the junior showing the most improvement during the year) went to Margaret Menke.

The Shoemaker Challenge Trophy made and donated by Mr. Shoemaker, and the E. D. Valiant Trophy were on display and will be placed in competition next year. These will be given to high place English and Western riders.

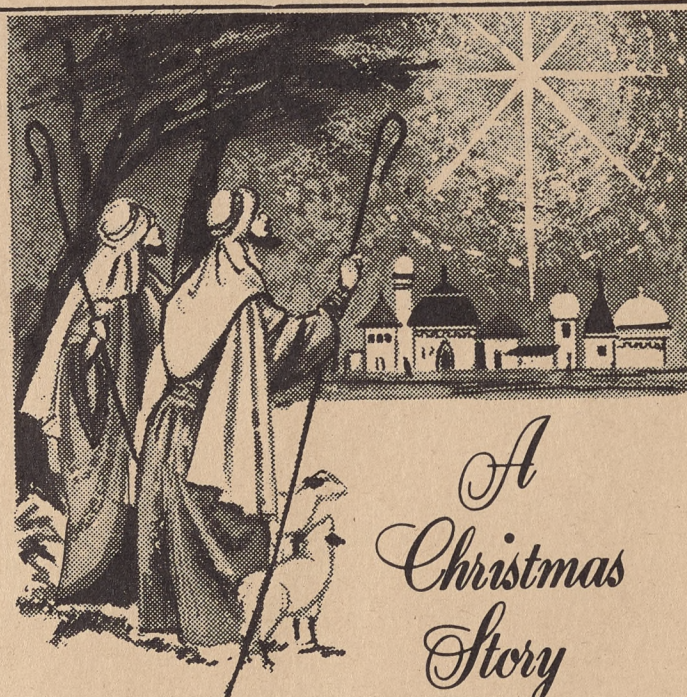

GREETINGS

May the cheery sounds of Christmas carry with them the warmest joys, and thanks to you, our good friends and customers.

Concerts to aid Hidden Valley Music Seminars

Beethoven's 'Egmont Overture', and opuses for classical and flemenco guitar are featured works at two evening concerts at the Sunset Auditorium, 28th. and 29th. December.

Entitled "CONCIERTOS EN CARMEL", the performances are for the benefit of the Hidden Valley Music Seminars, which is currently seeking a site in this area for a year-round music training college.

Opening night the "Royal Family of the Spanish Guitar"—Angel Romero and his sons Celedonio, Celin, and Pepe, will play Vivaldi's Double Guitar Concerto and the 'Concierto de Aranzuez' by Rodrigo.

In the second concert Thomas Paul (bass) and Marie Gibson (soprano) will be soloists in Beethoven's 'Choral Fantasy' with the alumni chorale and orchestra of Hidden Valley under conductor Dr. Michael Zearott, of the Atlanta Symphony. Mr. Paul, and Miss Gibson, will join with violinist Stanley Plummer (currently on recital tour of the country) in 'Wachet Auf', by Johann Sebastian Bach. The three soloists will then unite with the Hidden Valley Concert Orchestra in the resounding 'Egmont Overture' with John S. Waddell of the Pasadena Symphony Chorale conducting.

Reservations are now being taken by the Central Box Office, or by Hidden Valley, Box 942, Pebble Beach.

Hidden Valley, for the past few years somewhat 'hidden' from public notice during their summer seminars on the Robert Louis Stevenson campus, have lately received attention locally in their quest for a suitable campus of their own. At present under discussion by the county planning commission is their request for a use permit to develop ridge land above the Carmel Highlands. And with this attention has come recognition of their enterprise.

In two five-week sessions this past summer, fifty-one outstanding high school students underwent intensive study, not only in practical instrumentation and vocal technique, but also in the deeper fields of theory, history, aesthetics, and music criticism. At the close of each course, and also during the seminars, the students demonstrated their ability with public performances of choral and instrumental works.

HIDDEN VALLEY CHORALE with the Hidden Valley orchestra will participate Dec. 29 at 8:30, Sunset Auditorium in Beethoven's "Choral Fantasy" with a soloists Marie Gibson, soprano and Thomas Paul, bass.

Successful 39 Craftsmen show held

ART DIRECTORS Joan Snow and Dan Daily are two of the many reasons why the Fine Arts and Crafts Festival "39 Craftsmen Bring Christmas" was an artistic and financial success.

Participants were delighted with the turn-out at La Playa Hotel for the three-day event. As a result another festival will be held in the spring or summer of next year. Plans are for a competitive showing in all divisions of arts and crafts as well as artists-in-action.

'Roar of Greasepaint— Smell of Crowd' readied at Circle

"Roar of the Greasepaint— Smell of the Crowd" is scheduled to open in Carmel's Circle Theatre Dec. 28. The usual weekend performances will be extended through Monday evening, Dec. 30 and climax with a gala performance on New Year's Eve.

The book, lyrics and music were written by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse. Director of the local production (a David Merrick hit on Broadway) is Mrs. Allan Winfield, who brings years of experience to her work. She has directed nine musicals at Ft. Ord, has appeared in many roles at the Circle and is Community Theatre treasurer.

Dale Lefler is responsible for the creation of the dancing and miming of the plays 16 musical numbers. Assisting him, as well as dancing throughout the play, is Miss Akemi Ito.

Production pianist is Eleanor Michaels with Lt. Col. Allan Winfield as percussion accompanist.

William Lewis is in charge of atmospheric effects and stage manager Tim Gleason will be assisted by Ray Zimmerman.

Mrs. Winfield, assisted by William Stone, Art instructor at Carmel High School, has created the sets with the help of the commercial art classes of Carmel High which have made set decorations their major project. Derek Lawford and George Vaughn have volunteered as carpenters.

LEISURE TIMES

With tried and cast

'Guys and Dolls' to open at The Studio

"Guys and Dolls" opens Friday at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant with a tried and true cast. Almost all have been featured in previous musicals.

Eliane Yates (Sarah) was succeeded by Luann Brown (Adelaide) as the heroine of "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way to the Forum" and both were in "The Boy Friend" last summer.

The two male leads were in "Carnival." They are Hal Lockwood (Sky Masterson) and Saxon Rawlings (Nathan Detroit).

Dick Vreeland (Nice-Nicely) brings to the Stubby Kaye role experience as comic leads in such shows as "Send Me No Flowers" and played Fagin in the Forest Theatre production of "Oliver."

J. C. Hale (Arvid) well known for his roles at the Navy Post-graduate School played in "The Boy Friend;" Ed Shinbrot (Big Jule) was in "Carnival" and had the lead in "A Funny Thing;" John Soprano (Benny Southstreet) was in "Pajama Game" and Gary Tao (Harry the Horse) played in "Carnival."

Dennis Weaver (Angie the Ox) and Mike Williams (Lt. Brannigan) are new to the Studio as is Dorothy Hale who makes her debut as General Matilda B. Cartwright.

Jean Rawlings (Agatha) was sound technician for "Carnival" and "Hot Box Dolls." Jeannie Hughes was in "Carnival" and Janie Tucker was in "The Boy Friend." Debby Berry and Carol Green are newcomers.

Under the direction of Dave Kirk, "Guys and Dolls" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through January and the entire week between Christmas and New Year's Eve.

Handel's 'Messiah' in Salinas Saturday

Honor music students from Salinas High School, combined church singers, and the Hartnell College Chorus will join with the Hartnell Community Chorus in presenting Handel's "Messiah" at the Salinas High School auditorium on Dec. 22 at 8 p.m.

The "Magnificat," the second performance scheduled for the evening, will be sung by the Hartnell Community Chorus.

The chorus will be accompanied by a 25 piece chamber orchestra

STUDENT RICHARD BROWN, shown with accompanist Camille Olaeta, will be featured baritone soloist in the 19th annual "Program for Christmas" of the MPC Chorus Thursday, Dec. 19. Starting at 8:30 p.m. in the college music hall, the concert is open to the public without charge. John Rousseau will act as narrator for a contemporary "Christmas Story."

The program will include a performance by The College Singers also under the direction of Dr. Harvey Marshall with Karen Ziegenbein as accompanist.

The success of our rummage sale can be attributed to chair-woman Ora Todd, her competent committee and the team effort of the Lionettes and Lions.

Thursday nite, sorting the rummage were Marie, Gretchen Rae, Erma, Tina, Eileen, Beth, Ruth Stowers, Virginia, her daughter Sandra, and Ora. Friday nite Lions Al, Lee, Lloyd, Dick Gayman and Mike with their trucks, and Virginia, Beth, Lucy, Fran, Rae, Ruth and Bill Stowers, Frances, Eileen and her sister, Mike and Ora.

On Saturday, the big day, 9 a.m. till after 5 p.m., Virginia, Beth, Fran and Charlie, Eileen, Ruth and Bill, Lloyd, Clyde, Dorothy, Gretchen, Sal and Mary, and Ora. What was not sold was taken to the Salvation Army. The actual outcome is not known but you can be sure that it was $$$$$.

ACTIVITIES

● CV Women's Club

Carmel Valley Women's Club members are requested to jot a reminder on their calendars of the change of January meeting date. The luncheon meeting which will be held at the Monterey Elks club has been rescheduled for January 15. Mrs. Philip Mothersill and Mrs. Thomas Bottarro are co-chairmen of the affair which will feature a program by Pan-American airline.

● Doberman Club

The Christmas meeting of the Cabrillo Doberman Pinschers Club was held last Friday in the Estrada Adobe in Monterey. New members welcomed into the organization were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Manton of Monterey. Mrs. Jay (Sandra) Porter, formerly of the Valley and now a resident of Salinas was in charge of refreshments which followed a holiday theme.

● CV Kiwanis

George Clifford was installed new president of Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club at the annual banquet Friday night at Rippling River Lodge. He succeeds Kevin Walsh.

Other new officers include Dr. Dean Campbell, 1st vice president; Charles Strathmeyer, 2nd vice president; Don Quinto, treasurer, and Harold Fly, sec.

At Tuesday's luncheon meeting, John Kingsley, geology instructor at MPC, spoke on the geology of the Monterey Peninsula.

He said there is much "Carmel stone," interlined with bentonite, a clay, which causes slippage in earthquakes. Carmel Valley has quite a number of faults, including the Tularcitos fault, he added.

The Club was presented a pregnant rabbit by Kiwanis Lt. Gov. elect Jesse Gressett of the Seaside Club, which, if it produces before being passed to another club, will cost the CV Kiwanis $25 into the district treasury.

Mike Massaglia had a most interesting speaker from the Monterey Juvenile Probation Department. Larry Hoesl described the methods of probation and how they were handled. The discussion poised many questions that are apparently unanswerable, due to antiquated laws and the fact that our courts are not able to provide adequate discipline. This is an area that all of us should look into and, as Mr. Hoesl suggested, if we are not happy with the laws as they stand it is up to each of us to stand and be heard, thru our Congressman.

Dick McKenzie will attend the reception for the Governor at the Monterey Host Club.

William (Bill) Stowers has accepted the office of Secretary for the balance of the fiscal year.

Sal Ocampo will chair the monthly birthday celebrations, Peter Glod will chair the coming Student Speakers Contest, Richard Gayman will chair the New Year's Party and Bob Hebert will chair the annual Wine and Roses Ball.

We all welcome new Lion, Peter Baxter.

The New Year's Party will be held Jan. 4.

● Monterey Bay Singles

The Monterey Bay Singles Club held its Christmas Dance December 14. in the Don Room of the San Carlos Hotel.

Randi May Ayres, Lee E. Osnas bethrothed

Mrs. Horace Ayres of Carmel Valley this week announced the engagement of her daughter Randi May to Mr. Lee E. Osnas of San Francisco.

Miss Ayres is a graduate of Carmel High School and is a school and is a senior majoring in zoology at Fresno State College.

Mr. Osnas is a senior at Fresno State College and is majoring in agronomy.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. R. B. Stoney entertained at a Sunday Brunch for the young couple.

SPCA Moves to new shelter

The staff of the Monterey County Animal Shelter, plus some 70 of their charges, moved to its new quarters, La Vega Verde.

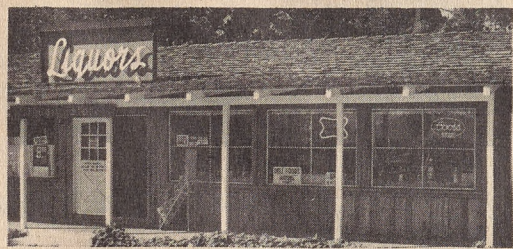

La Vega Verde is a dream come true for the local SPCA. Built largely from contributions, the new Center for Animal Welfare encompasses 5-1/2 acres between Salinas highway and Los Laureles grade. It has runs for 60 dogs and 24 cats. The little building on David Ave., New Monterey, which was its home since 1950, had 12 dog runs and 7 cat runs.

Besides Executive Director Gwen May of Carmel Valley, the staff includes Miss Philippa Hastings, kennel manager, also of the Valley; Ed Moore, humane officer, Pebble Beach; Dean Fissette, assistant kennel manager, who lives on the premises; Cynthia McArthur, secretary, Salinas, and Mrs. Joseph Bridge, receptionist, Carmel.

● Parents Without Partners

Friday, Dec. 27, 8 p.m., a repeat of last year's successful party. Call Blayne Botkin (375-0986) or George Reams (422-2851 in Salinas, or Neil Smith (624-1425) for such handy little details as where it is. Cost for PWP members: $3.00. Non-members: $4.00. Reservations must be sent to "PWP, Box 1691, Monterey, 93940" by Wednesday, Dec. 25th. Checks only, please. Open only to members and guests accompanied by members.

Free drinks end at 10:00 -- this knowledge may possibly affect your arrival time.

Gift book suggestions

Books about seals have been multiplying and here are three not to be missed. Take a look at GREY-LING and be carried away with the old legend of the Selchie the seal that becomes a person on land. Told by Jane Yolen and illustrated by William Stobbs, it carries the mystery of the sea, Scotland and a baby seal right into the young reader's ken. (World)

Not new, yet ever fresh, because of its fine telling is TALARGAIN by Joyce Gard (Holt). Also set off the coast of Scotland, the story carries on the legend of the seal-man, blending history and fantasy for older readers.

By Martha Bruggeman

Good juveniles are exciting and informative for adult reading and often better written than many adult books. Many of this year's come out of the past with a strong message for the present.

TWO HUNDRED RABBITS is told in folktale style by Lonzo Anderson and illustrated by Adrienne Adams. Humor and color with not a rabbit missing. (Viking Press)

Town meeting approach

A nice exercise of the localest level of government in the Valley was on exhibit at a meeting at Los Laureles Lodge last week Tuesday night. The Lower Valley Advisory Planning Board called an evening meeting to sound out public feeling about a proposed 25-acre subdivision, "Valle Carmel," on Meadows Road.

As per custom in Carmel Valley, the public sounded off and puts its opinion eloquently on the record.

"Opinion was unanimous and vociferous against it!" reported Architect William Cranston, secretary of the Advisory Board, which reaffirmed its opposition also to the proposed subdivision. Through clustering the homes, the one-acre minimum home site zoning in Carmel Valley would have been cut down.

Los Altos Hills' developer Tom Gamboa bowed to local opinion, and agreed to resubmit his plan in accordance with the local views. He is abandoning plans for a cluster development, which would have left a lot of adjacent land without any visible means of maintenance.

He was probably more happy further to conform to local prejudice against curbs and street lights. Very un-Carmel Valley-like, everyone agreed, superfluous trappings of non-country living.

The Lower Valley Advisory Board had previously gone on record against the proposed Valle Verde, arguing that flat land on the Valley floor is no place for clustering. The question of who would maintain the proposed open space around the houses was an obvious one, which the developer had neglected to consider at all.

The Advisory Board judged the matter of such importance that it not only voted the proposal down at its regular day-time meeting the previous week, but felt that an evening public meeting would further strengthen the record of opposition. With about 30 interested citizens present, it generated concerned public opinion throughout the entire Valley at the meeting held in the Upper Valley.

We like this "town meeting" approach. The County Planning Commission and County Board of Supervisors are bound to listen with more respect when public opinion is manifested so emphatically in the area affected. --WN

UNICEF CARDS and calendars are still available at the Thundervbird Shop and at the Keeping Room in Carmel Valley

CORRECTIVE VISION

Let's see what became of the pioneer stock
Who settled this land that you think is in hock
To some subversive foe now befouling your nest.
Why not open your eyes, if you've guts for the test?

Who struggled for freedom with Mount Vernon's George?
The raggedy barefoots who stormed Valley Forge.
Who shrieked their defiance at law on that day
That the mob threw the tea overboard in the Bay?

"You'll pay," vowed the King, "You scurrilous hellions!"
"Get out," howled the crowd, and they plotted rebellions

"Our right," cried the Whig
"You're wrong," cried the Tory
And tell me my friend,
Just what fashioned Old Glory?

The Rhyming Philosopher STEWARDSHIP

No man has yet revealed life's mystic fount
Nor figured out the debt to whose account.
Could life be just a loan, for which there must
Be stewardship based on a sacred trust?
And surely there might be some honest plan
For us to justify the name of Man
The reasoning existence on this earth
To prove, by how we handle life, our worth.
Not just the conscious life we call our own,
But others in whose company we're thrown;
To never wilfully betray or hurt
The least of these, nor thoughtlessly pervert
A lesser life by needless suffering.

Think you there also may be such a thing
As stewardship for lives within our care ---
The animals and creatures of the air?
The golden rule applies to all or none:
Do unto others as you would be done.
In fact I'd just as soon plunge deep a knife
Into my babe as maim some creatures life!
Kill if you must, but don't for mercy's sake
Inflict sheer torture on the life you take.

Middle School Xmas program Thursday

To welcome the Christmas Season, Middle School's band, choir, and orchestra under the direction of Mr. Larson, Mr.

Purdy and Miss Jones will present its annual treat Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in the gym.

This will be the first appearance of these groups, and will range from simple training pieces, suitably re-titled for the occasion to the traditional music of the Christmas Season. The program is co-sponsored by the Parent-Faculty Club.

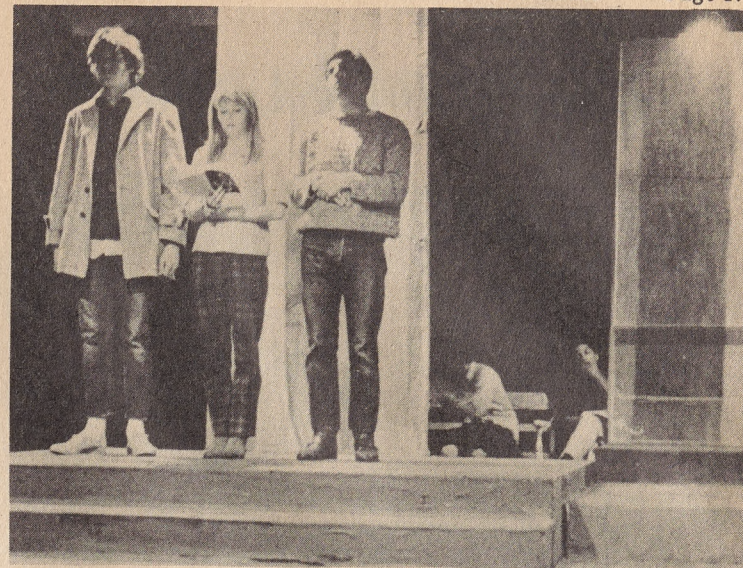

CHRISTMAS BASKETS

A letter from Student Council President John Toldi is asking for help in the annual Christmas canned goods drive. This goes to the Monterey Peninsula Salvation Army to be distributed to needy families on the Peninsula. Middle School's response to this need has always been highly gratifying.

PARENT AIDES

Middle School is benefitting from the services of some fifteen or sixteen aides (non-certificated), some on a pay basis, some volunteers. Their work encompasses a wide range, including reading projects, science department, library, playground supervision, remedial work, and secretarial help. While we appreciate all of the help, we would especially like to thank Mrs. Phil Nash for her help in getting out our school newspaper, "The Windjammer."

Incidentally, if you haven't seen a copy of our school paper look for one this week. It improves with each edition, thanks to the work of our Journalism Class under the direction of Mrs. John Craigie.

REHEARSING ROLES for the Monterey Peninsula College production of Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood" are MPC students Rob Sutherland, as "Mr. Pritchard," Terry Gardner as "Mrs. Ogmores-Pritchard," and Sam Mercurio as "Mr. Ogmores." The famed "play for voices" opened at the Little Theater on Campus last weekend and will be presented again Dec. 18-21 at 8:30 each evening. Tickets will be sold at the door. (Photo by Alan McEwen)

● Busy Junior League

Members of the Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula, Inc. will be educated as well as entertained at their general meeting Thursday, Dec. 19, at Sunset Center.

Major topic on the business agenda will be a report on Regional Meeting. Delegates from Region XII (Arizona, California, Hawaii and New Mexico) recently met in Honolulu for a three-day conference to discuss "Utilizing Community Resources." Delegates were Mrs. Richard T. Wilsdon of Carmel Valley and Mrs. K. Dennis Bertlesman of Salinas.

The Junior League sponsored Children's Theater company will present a performance of Marcia Hovick's original play, "The Two Brothers." Based on an old Scottish ballad, the play will feature fishermen and mermaids, moveable cliffs, shipwrecks and sound effects.

A traditional Christmas luncheon, to honor Junior League transfers, will be held at the La Playa Hotel following the program.

● Jaegers boost Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jaeger have brought their annual jar full of money to Community Hospital. This year it is a gift of $190. The money is a contribution by visitors to the garden of the Loma Vista Inn owned by the Jaegers. Their gifts to the hospital since 1958 now total $1,445.88.

● Salvation Army

Now is the time to clear the closets, garage, tool shed and basement in a round up for useable toys, clothing, household equipment, furniture, tools, and Christmas decorations. Your Salvation Army is working practically 'round the clock to sort, repair and distribute materials to make the holidays happier for people you may never see, but whose dreams and needs you can share. There's a drop-box at the Carmel Rancho shopping center, or you may phone 394-6507 for pick-up.

● Black Student Union

Georgetta Winston, who was active in M.P.C.'s Black Student Union Thanksgiving drive, reports that food and funds were collected for five families whose names were supplied by the Legal Aid Society. Turkeys were donated by Monte Mart and Safeway Stores; Mac's Market, Monterey, donated fruit; and $50 was contributed by faculty, administration, students "and one nice man from Carmel Valley."

BSU is now collecting food, clothing, toys and money for distribution at Christmas.

Contributions will be accepted in Room B8 at MPC until December 20, according to Betty Nichols, drive chairman.

Hollow Hills is novel 'farm'; boasts 500 varieties of succulents

BOB WALLS poses behind a prickly pear.

MOLLY, Bob's 8-month-old pedigreed German Shepard thinks she is still a pup and tries to get all of herself on his lap. She is named for Queen Armelea, a rare sempervivum succulent.

What was once five acres of sage brush, weeds, and dead pear trees is now one of Carmel Valley's most unusual new business enterprises, the Hollow Hills Succulent Farm.

Located across from the Carmelo School, just west of the Carmel Valley Manor, the Succulent Farm represents a sort of "rags-to-riches" story and the realization of a boyhood dream for owner Bob Walls, who started his first collection at the age of ten. Now, at 37, he is probably one of the Peninsula's foremost authorities on succulents, and he is planning a book on the subject.

As a child, Bob used to get plants from the woods around his native Aberdeen, Washington. He also picked berries, pine cones, and cascara bark to sell. He used his earnings to subscribe to gardening magazines and purchase plants.

BEGINS COLLECTION

He started a succulent collection, which, in Washington State, could be grown only indoors, and he began to increase his knowledge of them. His interest was interrupted, and he had to give up his collection when he went to college.

At the University of Oregon he majored in Music and Art, which served him well, because it was through giving music lessons and playing piano and organ in local night clubs that he was able to finance the early stages of his succulent farm.

Following college, he was inducted into the army and sent to Fort Ord, where he immediately fell in love with the Monterey Peninsula.

"When I first got off a bus in Carmel," he says, "I knew I was home. It felt as though I had been here all of my life."

He was assigned to service in Germany, and on his return, he tried to get back to the Peninsula. After teaching grammar school for one year in Merced ("closer than Washington, anyway"), he took a bus and arrived here with only forty-nine cents in his pocket. He took a job with a market in Pacific Grove and after a short time, transferred to the Pilot Market in Carmel, where he stayed four years. Next he started The Busy Bee Gardening Service, and rekindled his intense interest in gardening.

During this period, too, Walls first saw the site of what is now his succulent farm, and realizing its potential, fell in love with it. In search of a particular plant, he asked Chuck Kline (former Outlook garden editor and owner of Valley Hills Nursery) about it. Chuck was living at the time on a portion of the old Noel Sullivan estate, and when Bob saw the place, the plant was almost forgotten. He asked Kline to let him know if he ever decided to move from the farm. "Even if I should be in Africa, or wherever at the time, please let me know, and I'll come running," he said.

BOB WALLS moves a flat of sedum amecamecanum on his five-acre Hollow Hills succulent farm. That's a yucca in the foreground.

Six years later Kline did decide to leave the Valley and true to his word, he contacted Walls, whose love for the area had kept him here rather than in Africa.

STARTS WITH TEN

Bob Walls moved into the little house and started clearing the five acres. With about ten varieties of succulents, he began his collection again. Now, three years later, there are over 500 varieties on exhibition, with 286 varieties currently available to the public, a total field inventory of several thousand dollars. When planting is completed, there will be over 1000 varieties available he says.

Bob hopes to complete six exhibition gardens in the next 3 years. They will include a Victorian garden in geometric design (already complete); a modern, free-form garden with patio and pond, where a customer may sit and study the succulents; a Spanish garden; a classic Greek or Roman garden; an Oriental garden; and an Alpine rock garden, all pointing up the endless possibilities of succulents in landscaping.

CULTIVATING A prickly garden gives cacti fancier Bob Walls much pleasure.

The Succulent Farm seems destined to become nationally known, dealing as it does with mail orders of winter-hardy sempervivums and sedums. But for Peninsula plant fanciers it is just a pleasant drive away to find "farm produce" to make our gardens more beautiful or for unusual gifts for special people.

Blood supply low-Red Cross seeks donors

"Blood supplies become dangerously low during holiday season", according to E. James Mulrooney, Chairman of the Red Cross blood program for the Carmel Red Cross.

Regular donors are being contacted to ask them to make every effort to come to the bloodmobile.

The bloodmobile will be at the Carmel Red Cross chapter house, 8th and Dolores Friday, December 27 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling 624-6921.

New building for United Cal. Bank

United California Bank's Carmel Rancho Shopping Center office will move in the spring across Rancho Blvd. to a new building three times the size of its present location.

Completion of the new 7,200 square-foot building, being built by Dolphin Construction Co. is scheduled for March.

Drive-in facilities, a larger safe deposit dept and a parking area reserved for bank customers are a few of the improvements being added for the new building and site.

Manager Scott Rambach pointed out that the office will continue to observe the 10 to 5 hours Monday through Thursday and 10 to 6 Friday hours.

WHAT'S DOING?

Meet Don Howard

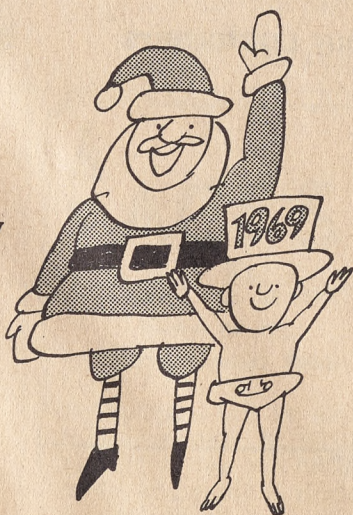

For those of you who do not know Don, we would like you to meet him. For the many people on the Peninsula who do know him, here's a chance to get to know him better. Don joined Pacific Telephone in 1956 as an Installer-Repairman and has worked at that position in every community on the Peninsula.

Don lives in Monterey with his wife and three children. He is very active in community affairs, being a leader in local Boy Scout activities and serving as a manager in the Little League.

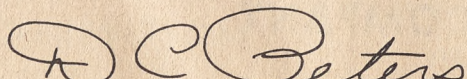

Don has literally pumped life into the veins of many Peninsula residents through his frequent trips to the local blood bank to make a donation. Don points with pride to his membership in the exclusive "6 Gallon Club."

In recognition of Don's tremendous feeling of community responsibility and desire to help his fellow man, Don Howard has been singled out by his fellow employees to receive Pacific Telephone's Community Service Award for the Southern Division.

All of us at Pacific Telephone want to wish you and your family a very Merry Christmas and the best for the New Year ahead! We've enjoyed serving you in 1968, and we've tried to bring you the best possible service. Our resolution for 1969 is to continue working toward this goal.

Top dog

A Norwegian elkhound whose mischievous name, "Howdy Rowdy," belies his regal dignity in a show ring has all of dogdom talking. Not only is he the top winning Norwegian elkhound of all time, but has also been rated one of the top hounds in the United States for 1968. Howdy Rowdy belongs to former residents, Patricia Craige (she is an instructor at Carmel Middle School) and her husband John who is a veterinarian in Monterey. The couple were co-chairmen last weekend of the Puppy Match at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

CINDERELLA

The Naval Post Graduate School's annual Christmas gift to the Peninsula was well attended by Valley youngsters who attended the Saturday and Sunday performances of "Cinderella" as adapted by Ruth Newton. Sue Breen as Cinderella and Will Edwards as the handsome Prince and members of the cast greeted members of the audiences after each performance to autograph programs and dispense Christmas lollipops. Among the Valley youngsters attending were members of the Bluebird group led by Mrs. Erasimo Belleci and the Camp Fire Girl group led by Mrs. Rex Pryer.

Scout Exec. Frisbie takes new post

W. Chester Frisbie (Chet), a member of the executive staff of the Monterey Bay Area Council since 1963, will leave on December 15 to take over duties as a District Scout Executive of a large district in the Old Baldy Council, with headquarters in Claremont, California.

Chet joined the local council in 1963 as the Peninsula District Executive and became Director of Program in 1966. During the 5 years he has been with the council he has contributed to Scouting in this area. While he is best known for his fine work at Pico Blanco Scout Reservation, he has served also as the staff advisor to the White Stag program, Order of the Arrow, Council Camping and Activities Committees, editor of the Knapsack and numerous other duties. He has been the staff advisor and co-ordinator of the experimental Membership-Leadership development program carried out in this council in conjunction with the National Council.

Chet first joined the Scouting profession as a Field Scout Executive in 1953 in the Grand Canyon Council, Flagstaff, Arizona.

From 1956 to 1963 he served on the National Council Staff as Assistant Director of Professional Training and Assistant Director of Camping at the National Training Center of the Boy Scouts of America at Mendham, New Jersey. He was the director of the National Junior Leader Instructor Training Camps at the Schiff Scout Reservation and later became the coordinator of Volunteer Training Courses at that training Center. He has been recognized nationally for his work in the leadership training field.

Mark Taylor on Chico State JV

Among the many fine prospects on the Chico State College junior basketball squad is freshman forward Mark El Taylor of Carmel, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harris Taylor. A 1968 graduate of Carmel High School, he was the co-captain of the team and most valuable player in the Carmel Tourney.

Coach Bill Colvin said Taylor is one reason he considers the Wildcats to be a top contender in the league.

SEASHORE WORKSHOP

Some of the loveliest hand-made Christmas gifts to be opened this year will be the sand candles made by the twenty-two pupils who make up the classes at Carmelo and Carmel Woods Schools of Mrs. Elaine Sandburg and Mr. Pat Allen. The youngsters accompanied by their instructors and three mothers made a field trip to the Carmel beach where they utilized the seashore for their workshop for the day.

WEDDING GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Seal from Springville, Utah were among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding and reception of Kathy Busico and Mitchell Black.

NEW CITIZEN

Among the 101 persons who became citizens in the ceremony held last week in San Francisco was Mrs. Betty Lambert of Paso Mediano. Betty, a Canadian by birth, passed her examinations in September. She has been a Valley resident for five years. Witnessing the memorable occasion were her daughters, Wendy and Becky.

OHIO VISITORS

Visitors from Ohio at the Aliso Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leanza have been the guests of honor at several family gatherings since their pre-Thanksgiving Day arrival. Sheila's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Corrigan of Cleveland will remain in the Valley until after the holidays. Last weekend the Leanzas, their sons, and the Corrigan drove to Tiburon where Sheila's sister, Miss Barbara Corrigan entertained with a large Christmas party. Christmas Day will find the family assembled with cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Falge and family in Pacific Grove.

LECTURE ON DRUGS

The Carmel Middle School eighth grade science classes, whose instructors are Miss Ruth Hahn and Mr. A. C. Kolb, had a timely lecture last week by Lt. Bob Fischer of the Carmel Police Department. Lt.

Fischer described many of the department's experiences in dealing with the drug problem, followed by question and answer period with student participation.

SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

The sycamore leaves at the Trail and Saddle Club Grounds and the imagination of the guests invited to Laurie McGlochlin's seventh birthday party, who had such a memorable afternoon creating things with them, highlighted a birthday party last Saturday. Laurie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGlochlin of Garzas Road invited Angie Hohler, Susan Renault, Blaine Black, Pamela Gayman, Suzette Conne, Jeanine Renault, and Laurie's sister, Linda.

Judy Koon celebrated her 11th birthday at her parents' new restaurant "The House of Koon" Nov. 23 with a group of her friends: Cindy Ocampo, Linda Tedrow, Tammy Steinbrook, Christi Klump and Blair Craig.

Pet of the Week

POSING PRETTY for Christmas is this 8-week-old glamour puss. Photographers Louis and Virginia Kay set her under their Christmas tree to show you what a wonderful present she will make. Other kittens and pups of assorted sizes, shapes and colors are also available in time for Christmas at La Vega Verde. Drop in and see the new SPCA quarters or phone 373-2631 for more information.

THE KIND DEEDS of two little village boys make them the heroes of "Why the Chimes Rang" a Christmas story to be dramatized by the children of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Dec. 22. at 7 p.m.

Here Bernd Lucas as the king and Carle Bresk, as the little brother and Mike Busick, as the Pedro rehearse their roles. Others in the cast are Marleny Collas, Shane Hattan, Rogan Hattan, Jeff Glasco, Heidi Hattan, Garth Hattan, David Busick, Chris King, Isabel Collas, Laura Busick, Pam Gayman, Scarlet Hattan, Becky Lambert, Wendy Lambert, Sandy Trout and Karen Lucas. Kitty Hendricks is the narrator.

CV Chapel Children plan Xmas pageant

Children of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel cordially invite the public to attend their Christmas gift to the Community, a pageant called "Why the Chimes Rang." The story relates events which led to the miraculous ringing of the long silent chapel chimes by the kind deeds of two little Village boys.

Mrs. Richard King is director of the play which will be given Dec. 22 at 7:00 in the Chapel on Village Drive. Mrs. William Wood is in charge of decorating the church this year.

Participating in the program will be the Junior Choir (grades 1-4), the Youth Choir, and the Cathedral choir. There is no admission charge.

Youth groups to carol at Carmel Plaza creche

Carmel Christian Youth organization has scheduled Christmas caroling at the creche in Carmel Plaza each evening from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Starting last Sunday when Carmel High was host, it continued Monday, with All Saints Church and Woods School; Tuesday with Carmel Mission and River School.

Tonight, Wednesday, the Presbyterian Church and Middle School were to be in charge of the program; Thursday, the Peninsula Community Church was to team up with Carmelo School; Friday, Church of the Wayfarer with Scouts; Saturday, Carmel Valley Churches with Tularcitos School; Sunday, Middle School Foreign Language Dept., with Carmel clubs and civic groups, and Dec. 23, all churches.

The public is urged to join in the singing. In case of rain, the caroling will be conducted across the street at the Carmel Plaza under the roof.

A photography workshop directed by Ansel Adams will be held at Timber Cove Inn on the rugged Sonoma coast near Fort Ross Feb. 23 through noon of the 28th.

Interested persons are invited to communicate now with the Timber Cove Inn office at 660 Sacramento St., San Francisco.

They should submit a short outline of their work and what they want to gain from the workshop. After Adams and his staff study the applications he may request applicants to send work directly to him in Carmel.

Enrollment is limited to 25 and the workshop fee, including room and meals, will be $250.
